

PRIVATE DETECTIVE AGENCIES ARE ACCUSED

ALBERT BAILIN MAKES CHARGE AGAINST THEM IN DEPOSITION MONDAY

Says They Foment Radicalism, Strikes and Labor Troubles in Order to Collect Big Fees from Banking Interests and Business—Tells of the Methods That Are Used

CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—Charges that private detective agencies foment radicalism, strikes, labor troubles and underground revolutionary movements in order that they may collect big fees from banking and business interests for uncovering them, are contained in a deposition by Albert Bailin, alias Balanow, taken here today by Frank P. Walsh for use in connection with the defense of 22 alleged communists facing trial at St. Joseph, Michigan.

Balanow, former member of the department of justice, the military intelligence service, operative of the Burns, Thiel, Daniels and other private detective agencies, member of the I. W. W., communist party, communist labor party, Socialist party, Young Peoples' Socialist League, Socialists-Laborers Workers International Industrial Union, and by his own admissions a "spy and agent provocateur" unfolded an amazing story of double crossing in which he sold out two or three employers at a time to each other. He claims a former employer made him the "goat" and caused him to be indicted on a federal charge, hence his effort to expose what he says is the inside workings of the private detective agencies.

SISTER KIDNAPED FROM NOTRE DAME ACADEMY MONDAY

Sister Cecilia Taken to Baltimore, Held Several Hours

FREDERICK, Md., Feb. 12.—Sister Cecilia, a music teacher at the Notre Dame Academy here, was kidnapped from her institution this afternoon and taken to Baltimore, where she was held captive for several hours.

Sister Cecilia, who formerly was Miss Marie Whalen of Verona, Pa., is in a serious condition at the convent and has been ordered to remain in bed. According to a statement by Father Kane, she is suffering from shock and a blow received on the head by unidentified persons. All of her religious garments were taken away from her, he said, and on account of being hysterical, is unable to give a detailed account of the kidnapping.

According to Father Kane, the kidnapping occurred between 2 and 3 o'clock this afternoon. While Sister Cecilia was giving piano instructions to a pupil, he said, she noticed a man and a woman standing beside a closed automobile across the street from the convent. She became alarmed, he stated, as the couple acted mysteriously.

An hour after the pupils had left the building and while she was alone in the room, she noticed the woman peering in thru a rear window. When she went to investigate, according to her story to Father Kane, the man struck her over the head. She said she did not remember anything of what happened until she came to several hours later in the Baltimore house.

When she recovered consciousness, Father Kane said, she overheard several persons in an adjoining room talking about her. She told the supervisor that they "spoke like foreigners and were talking about a $500 ransom. Seeing a coat and hat on the wall of the room she grabbed them and ran out on the street. There she met a policeman and without telling him the story of the kidnapping asked him to direct her to a taxi-cab stand in order that she might be able to return to Frederick. On arriving here she stumbled into the vestibule of the convent where she fainted. While not believing the tax driver who gave his name as S. W. Cuthbert of Baltimore to be implicated in the kidnapping, Father Kane requested police to hold him as "suspicious person and for questioning."

Father Kane said he could not account for the attempt to kidnap Sister Cecilia.

PLAN FOR JOINT CONSIDERATION OF TWO MEASURES

Shipping Bill and British Debt to be so Considered by Senate

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—An administration program providing for joint consideration of the shipping bill and of the British debt settlement measure was developed today in the senate.

The plan, which is understood to have received the approval of President Harding was disclosed by Chairman Jones of the commerce committee who is in charge of the shipping bill, after he had failed in another attempt to limit debate on the measure thru unanimous consent agreement. It provides that the senate shall adjourn from day to day, thereby providing a morning hour each day during which the debt bill shall be considered and after which the shipping bill is to come up. In making known the plan Senator Jones further informed the senate that failing to obtain an agreement to vote on the shipping bill would need night sessions beginning Wednesday.

Definite arrangements to put the plan into effect were deferred today as Democratic senators said they wished to consult with Senator Reed of Missouri, a Democratic member of the finance committee who returned to the capital today after an absence of several weeks, before formulating their views with respect to the proposal.

Republican leaders indicated after adjournment that they expected to begin operations under the plan tomorrow. Standing in the way of the proposed procedure is a motion made today by Senator Norris, Republican, Nebraska and debated thruout most of the session to begin consideration of the constitutional amendment recently reported by the agricultural committee. This amendment would provide for direct election of the president for moving up the date of the presidential inauguration from March 4 to the third Monday in January, and for elimination of any session of an old congress after election of a new congress.

Norris Will Move to Amend Senator Norris in discussing the amendment announced he would move to amend it to eliminate the provisions relating to the president and press only the portion regarding the meeting of congress. In this form it was said to be acceptable to Republicans generally and it was indicated that if Senator Norris proposed to press it as he announced today it would be approved with little debate.

Some Democratic opponents of the shipping legislation indicated they would agree to bring it to a vote if the administration forces would accept the Madden amendment, which was approved by the house but eliminated by the senate commerce committee after President Harding had informed Chairman Jones it would nullify the bill.

The amendment would make grants of government aid to ship operators contingent upon annual appropriations by congress. The first reaction of the administration leaders on acceptance of the amendment was unfavorable.

The question of the legislative program will be discussed further with President Harding tomorrow by Senator Lodge, Chairman of the senate finance committee and Senator Smoot, Republican, Utah, a member of the American debt funding commission. The conference was to have been held today but was postponed pending development of the program.

Edison Gives Out Red Hot Interview

(By The Associated Press) WEST ORANGE, N. J., Feb. 12.—Thomas Alva Edison, electrical wizard, started on the first lap toward his seventy-seventh birthday today by receiving hundreds of messages of congratulation from all parts of the United States, entertaining several guests at his home and answering questions of newspapermen on domestic and world affairs.

Briefly, the inventor thinks the navy is a "closed corporation;" the Ku Klux Klan should be "wiped out;" the British debt refunding scheme is all right; the French are right in occupying the Ruhr; the Germans are bad losers and the British good sports; Cough isn't a fake and seems to be in earnest; "hoose" will not be a critical issue at any time; and America should be sober; the newspapers print too much scandal and "politicians make suckers out of the publishers;" business conditions are shaping nicely; college men don't know what's going on; newspaper men would have to a "bunch of nuts" to understand what his contrivances are all about; the American girl "is fine—none better" and the helicopter is good in the field of invention.

Mr. Edison also wants the world to know that he likes the movies pretty well.

When the newspaper men were nearing the end of their interrogations the inventor said: "If you want to spend your time valuably why don't you write about what's being done for the sick? Get a story about the Rockefeller Institute. Learn who is effecting cures and let the people know about it."

Mr. Edison at noon took up that part of his birthday program which he likes best—shaking hands with the men who aided and encouraged him during the days when he was experimenting with his inventions. These old friends came from all parts of the country. They banded together years ago calling themselves the "Edison Pioneers" and resolve to have a reunion each year of the "chief's" birthday.

Lately, according to his associates, he has developed a desire to leave his laboratory and question persons seeking jobs in his factories, something he never did in former days. The inventor insists that everyone seeking employment should submit to questioning concerning his or her qualifications for the work desired.

It was this which prompted him to prepare the famous questionnaire which he hands to all job seekers.

Associates of Mr. Edison say that the only change time is making in him is an increased whitening of the hair. He continues steadfastly to refrain from arranging his hours or sleeping or eating according to the division of light and darkness.

The great inventor attributes his amazing power of physical endurance to the fact that his life has been absolutely free from dissipation.

COMMENT IS MADE ON GRAVE STATE OF FOREIGN AFFAIRS

England May Have to Withdraw Troops from the Rhine

(By The Associated Press) LONDON, Feb. 12.—Comment on all sides turns on the grave state of affairs facing the reassembly of parliament tomorrow, not only internal affairs, like unemployment and the need of rearmament, but, still more, foreign affairs, such as the Ruhr and the Near East crisis. Attention is focussed particularly on the question of relations with France, in which the difference in policy as the Times phrases it in an editorial, "as revealed by French action in the Ruhr is past all concealment."

Dispatches from French sources in Coblenz and Dusseldorf today showed that the interallied Rhine commission is making arrangements to prevent goods of any kind from leaving the territory under its jurisdiction without permits from the commission's representative and similar measures are being adopted in the Ruhr. Control posts are being established along the Ruhr border and at Krefeld, Cologne, Mayence and Ludwigshafen.

It is pointed out in Paris that British officials must participate in the work of granting these permits because England is still technically a member of the Rhine-land commission. It may be supposed that this will cause further indignation to the labor and Lloyd George parties, which are already clamoring for withdrawal of the British troops from the Rhine and complete severance of England from any responsibility in the French action.

It is quite certain the government will find it difficult to maintain its attitude of benevolent neutrality toward France in the face of the strong attacks certain to be brought by the laborites and Georges and the strong feeling in the country generally against the French policy.

SEEKS HUSBAND IN KANSAS WOMAN SAYS SHE HAS THE MONEY

Followed Him to America Because She Loved Him

(By The Associated Press) CONCORDIA, Kans., Feb. 12.—Having lost her heart to W. W. Clark, of Concordia, when he was an American doughboy in the army of occupation on the Rhine, Mrs. Christine Peters, who says she is a Swiss actress, arrived here today direct from Coblenz to redeem a pledge of more than a year ago. Clark returned from the Rhine and was mustered out last June.

The young woman was informed today that Clark was not possessed of great wealth as she anticipated and that he is employed on a bridge gang near Cherryvale, Kansas.

"That makes no difference," she asserted. "Even though he has not a lot of money, I have plenty. I love him and we will be married. I will leave at once to locate him."

Mrs. Peters, who explained that she and a former husband are divorced was accompanied by eleven trunks. The mere detail of paying $16 express baggage on the trip from Atchison, Kansas, apparently did not perturb her in the least. She was dressed fashionably.

"I thought I would surprise him," she said. "Over at Coblenz we sort of got the idea that the American boys were wealthy. However, it was not expected wealth that brought me here; it was because I love him."

WABASH WILL ROUTE FAST TRAIN THRU CITY

According to a statement made by Trainmaster Sanburg of the Wabash railroad, Jacksonville may soon have another thru train. The Wabash is contemplating putting on a New York-Kansas City train thru this city. If present plans materialize the train will be made up of ten cars, of solid steel construction.

This train will in all probability be run on the old time of Nos. 9 and 28, going west at noon and east at midnight. Stops will be made at Springfield, Jacksonville and Hannibal.

It is reported that part of the equipment is now in the yards at Decatur.

PRESIDENT DECLARES LINCOLN'S SUPREME GIFT PRESERVATION

Harding Pays Beautiful Tribute to the Greatness of Abraham Lincoln—Termed as Colossal Figure Among Hero Statesmen of all the Ages—World Also Does Reverence

(By The Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 12.—The supreme gift of Abraham Lincoln was not in construction but rather in preservation, President Harding declared in an address tonight at a Lincoln Memorial dinner tendered by friends of Lincoln Memorial University of Cumberland Gap, Tenn.

"Humanity itself," the president declared, "needs to drink of the cup of unflinching confidence which enabled him to stand erect and unshaken amid discouragements and criticism which would have crushed any less than a master heart and soul."

The president spoke as follows: "No human story surpasses the fascination and the inspiration of that of Abraham Lincoln. The republic pays tribute tonight and most of the world is doing him reverence because in his unshaken faith the world finds its own hopes mightily strengthened. Our words are all feeble because we are dealing with the master martyr, the supreme leader in a national crisis, the surpassing believer in a fulfilled destiny and a colossal figure among the hero statesmen of all the ages."

"Turning over in the last few days, the promise I had made to add my own to the testimonies that here are to be spoken, I have been impressively reminded of the greatly revived interest in everything concerning Lincoln which has marked the past few years notably the last two years."

"One cannot but have observed how greatly the thoughts of the people have turned to this man of vision, the great emancipator who spoke with the voice of the common people for truth and for freedom. To me, this has been a portent of hope, a justification of faith, a reason for confidence that men will not only create the mark of civilization thru the storms which beset it, but will at last bring it into the port of better and happier days."

"It does not seem hard to understand why in times like these in which we live there should be such a renaissance of sentiment for Lincoln, of renewed interest in the great lessons of his life. For men have come to think of him as they have not thought of others among the merely human characters of history. Lincoln has appealed to them as one who manifestly was brought forth with the destiny or consecrated by an infinite hand to render a particular service, to serve a nation, to emancipate a people, to preserve in the world, the fruits of the Out of Lincoln came the proof of democracy, surely it is not strange that the eyes and the interest of a world should turn to him now, when all mankind feels the need for such leadership and service and directed as he was."

"The world today sees civilization brought to its supreme test. Its trial came when it might least have been expected. At the very apex of material advances, when science and industry and invention and culture seemed to have united in justifying man's proudest estimate of his destiny there came among the nations such a clash of ambitions such a confusion of ideals, such a crash of conflicting aims and aspirations, as it has never known before."

People Now Turn to Lincoln "Turning now, in the midst of wreckage, to look for whatever can be trusted as safe and strong and lasting, it is not to be wondered that people turn anew the pages of Lincoln's story. In very truth his soul is marching on. To him it has been given to leave a living heritage of vital power and supreme inspiration to the race. Out of Lincoln came the proof that lofty achievements are not in ideals alone but in that spiritual and material justice which is the wholesome blending of infinite purpose and man's capacity for fulfillment."

"Doubtless it is vain to hope that another such as he will be given to us and to our time. But to the extent that we shall prove ourselves worthy of such a leader, to that extent we shall be better able to save ourselves without him. The task which men face thruout the world now is one which they must cope as God intended. Their hope, their salvation, their destiny must at last be in their own hands."

"We drink from memory, we find inspiration in example, we are exalted by the eternal truths which Lincoln saw and proclaimed but the highest usefulness in these things is their practical preservation, so as to reveal to all people a true understanding of

PRESIDENT BYRAN IN OPEN LETTER PANS GOVERNOR

Criticizes McMasters of South Dakota for Alleged Attacks

(By The Associated Press) CHICAGO, Feb. 12.—H. E. Byram, president of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railway, has written an open letter to Governor McMasters of South Dakota criticizing the governor for what Mr. Byram refers to as a series of most bitter and unjust attacks upon the railroads, which Mr. Byram declares were made by Governor McMasters in his recent message to the state legislature.

According to Mr. Byram, Gov. McMasters said that 18 months ago railway managers knew that their equipment was inefficient and charged them with "incompetency and criminal carelessness," in neglecting to supply sufficient equipment. In his letter to the Governor Mr. Byram declared that the railroads in 1921 and 1922 with the equipment they had moved more farm products than in any previous year in their history and said that in the period referred to, "the railroads actually placed orders for the purchase of more than 3,700 new locomotives and for almost 200,000 new freight cars."

Replying to the statement which he said the governor made that the railroads have been over-capitalized and have made their rates high enough to pay dividends upon this total capitalization, Mr. Byram said that the railroads have never in a single year have paid dividends on their total capitalization, and that in 1921 they paid no dividends on 43 percent of their stocks.

MASKED MEN KILL FARMER. Belfast, Feb. 12.—A number of masked men appeared at the home of John Gallagher, a farmer of Gweedore, County Donegal, on Saturday and shot him dead.

Lincoln's transcending eminence, his supreme gift was not in construction, his was the master of preservation. And the call of the world today is for preservation of the preserved civilization which is the best judgment of human intelligence since the world began, xxxxx

"The Lincoln Memorial University has truly been called a living memorial to the emancipator. It was founded in pursuance of his expressed desire that the light of learning might be carried to the people of that strange, sequestered, mountain community of which his own forbears were members, xxxxx

"It stands to the everlasting credit of those men and women of the mountains that in every time of national need they have been instant in response and magnificent in loyalty."

A THOUGHT

For God hath not given us the spirit of fear; but of power, and of love, and of a sound mind—2 Tim. 1:7.

That man is great, and he alone, Who serves a greatness not his own.

For neither praise nor self; Content to know and be unknown; Whole in himself.

After a great deal of talk and worry about the need of fertilizer from Germany, it develops that great beds of it have been found in New Jersey. So extensive are the deposits that it is estimated that based on the present consumption this fertilizer supply would be sufficient for the United States for hundreds of years.

Gov. Small's proposal of an additional bond issue for hard roads seems to be meeting with more and more favor, especially in the down state counties. The record of the roads department of the state under the present administration has been excellent, the governor making good in his effort to secure hard road construction at reasonable expense.

The second of the mine riot trials has begun at Herrin, with not nearly as much of public interest as attached to the first trial. It is noteworthy that none of the attorneys for the defendants seem to be intent upon having a change of venue to some other county on the ground of being unable to secure a fair trial for their clients in Williamson county.

You are missing the opportunity to familiarize yourself with many interesting facts about Morgan county if you are not reading the series of articles by Frank J. Heintz, now appearing in the Journal. This narrative, taken from Mr. Heintz's records, tells in a very interesting way of the development of the state and county. The articles are being published at this time particularly because of the 100th anniversary of the founding of the county.

Yesterday was a dismal day from a weather standpoint and the customary complaints were heard. This was the case in face of the fact that the rainy days just now represents the greatest need of Jacksonville and Morgan county. The records showing the smallest rainfall for forty years during the past eight months, it is easy to understand that need.

The hard road hearing scheduled for Springfield today has been postponed because of the governor's illness. The weather indications are rain and some country roads are already muddy. However, these conditions are propitious for a road hearing. When highways are in bad condition people are always much more enthusiastic about improving them.

BERTON BRALEY'S DAILY POEM
WEAR YOUR RUBBERS
By Berton Braley

A YOUNG man sat in a theater,
To watch the actors play,
But he coughed so loud that the other folks
Couldn't hear what the actors did say.
The usher did come down to him
And said, "You'll have to leave."
And as the young man left the place
These words he seemed to sneeze.

Chorus
"ALWAYS wear your rubbers,"
That's what my mother said,
But I would never listen
And now my nose is red,
I wish that I had hearkened
To what my mother told,
"Always wear your rubbers
And you will not catch cold!"

A YOUNG man met a maiden,
Whose pumps were made of suede,
Her stockings, rolled below the knee,
Of silk were thinly made;
He said to her, "Oh, little girl,
You'll get a cold in your head,
I'll marry you and teach you what
My dear old mother said."

Chorus
"ALWAYS wear your rubbers,"
My mother said, and she
Most surely said a mouthful
In those kind words to me.
Oh, darling, hear the warning
My mother wisely told,
"Always wear your rubbers
And you will not catch cold!"

"GOOD READING"
(NEA)

Only 6863 new books were published last year in America. You wonder why the "only." It seems a lot. But in 1921 the total was 16,310.

Figures along this line mean much to one trying to watch the activity of the American brain in its alternating cycles of stimulation and decay.

A falling-off of a third in the number of new books published, however, doesn't necessarily reveal the amount of reading being done by the public. For instance, 100 new books selling an average of 1000 copies each or a total of 100,000 copies, do not mean as much as one good book selling 150,000.

The public unquestionably read more books last year than the year before. That might not show up in the total number of volumes sold, for at least five times as many people borrow books as buy new ones.

The drop in the number of new books issued last year does not mean that publishers are selecting manuscripts more carefully before putting their money and sales organizations back of them.

Fewer new works of fiction are being published than in 1922. The movies explain that. They supply fiction without the bother of wading thru type. On the average, one hour of movies provides more genuine diversion, entertainment and relaxation than 10 hours of printed fiction.

The poets and dramatists seem to be getting a larger audience. Last year 480 new works of verse and drama were published compared with 259 in 1922.

Geography and travel, in the matter of new books, has shown very little change in the last 20 years. Biography has fallen off a third; we get our great men in the daily news.

The World War has made many of us interested in original causes. Which probably explains why 518 different works of history were published last year, compared with 165 in 1922.

When you observe that 17,173 new books were published in our country during the last two years, you realize how few books out of the total the average person has time to read. To wade thru all of them, you would have to read nearly 24 volumes a day.

Considering that very few of the total are really worth reading, it's all for the best that readers are pressed for time. The trouble is that, in the labyrinth of new books, a reader is rather dazed about which few to pursue. Newspaper editors sense this, and the old-time book review department is returning to favor.

HAVE BEEN MARRIED FOR MANY YEARS

Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Hussey Still Bare and Hearty Tho Married 29 Years Ago.

Few residents of Illinois can equal the record of Mr. and Mrs. S. M. Hussey of 534 South East street in this city, who have been married fifty-nine years. The anniversary of their wedding was observed quietly on Sunday, the aged couple receiving the congratulations of many friends who knew about the anniversary. Three sons of Mr. and Mrs. Hussey were unable to be present as they all live in distant cities.

Life seemingly holds still other years for these worthy residents, for both Mr. and Mrs. Hussey are still in excellent health. It was only last summer that Mr. Hussey spent a number of days in the harvest field and was able to carry just as much of the burden of the work as was true of the younger men.

Mr. Hussey recalled yesterday on Lincoln's birthday that he voted for Lincoln in 1860. His Republicanism, however, dated back of that election, for he voted for John C. Fremont for president in 1856.

It so happens that the three sons mentioned are all electricians. Charles Hussey is located in South America; while Abe and Stephen are resident in Brooklyn.

with customary eloquence. After discussing some of the outstanding facts about Lincoln the vice president reviewed events in American history that have tended to shape American character. Subsequently he gave the figures to show that the government today is spending vast sums as expression of its appreciation of the sacrifices made by its soldiers in the World war.

In the course of this address Vice President Coolidge said: "This day and this occasion naturally invite our thought to our Government. It is a time when we may well consider some of the aims and purposes of those who founded it and the general success which their principles when carried into effect have brought to all the people."

Very few of the original settlements of the American colonies were made because of a desire for gain. They were a practical people, not unlearned in the art of making a living, not without the ordinary human motive for success, but broadly speaking their chief purpose was to escape from a condition of tyranny and create institutions in accordance with their own choice. These settlements were made at a time of extraordinary change. The old order was passing away and the new order was coming in. Both the religious and the political life of the people passed into a new era. Both to the church and the State there came a new freedom.

When the American Constitution was finally adopted, when the Government was organized, when it increased in strength and efficiency under a President like Washington, a Secretary like Hamilton, a Judge like Marshall, and a popular leader like Jefferson, a new power destined to preserve and extend the rights of mankind had come into being. What this Government really was, what powers it possessed, what national character it represented, it was many years in developing. Liberty is of slow growth, but irresistible. It took the long debates of Clay, Calhoun and Webster, and the vigilant action of Jackson, no less than the decisions of Marshall and the wise counsel of Washington, to reveal the true spirit of the Union.

At length the time came for another extension of the principle of freedom. Like all others, it was wrought in sacrifice. At last the national character of our Government was finally established. The fabric of the Union was finally complete. The rank of citizens was all free.

It was out of this period of suffering and sorrow that there emerged the great statesman, Abraham Lincoln, and the two great soldiers, Grant and Lee. Each of these represented an American ideal. Lee stands for the power of the States. Grant stands for the power of the Nation. But to Lincoln it was given to stand for the power of the people.

Great Human Sympathy
It was under him and thru him that this power at last developed and fully revealed. No other figure in all history so understood the government with themselves. He had a human sympathy that embraced the whole nation. He never recognized any enemies. He did not hesitate to call to his Cabinet those who had opposed him. He had but one motive, which explains all his actions. He was determined to save the Union. He was never influenced by animosity towards any of it. "We are not enemies," said he, "but friends. We must not be enemies." The rule which he followed was the law. The sentiment which he felt was compassion. He was justice and mercy.

The great men of all times battle all analysis and all description. They rise above all precedent to heights where no man may follow. We know that Lincoln was born in adversity. That has been the birthright of many Americans. We know that this youth lacked opportunity for that education which comes from books. This too has been uncommon. We know that he struggled and toiled and studied to perfect himself in learning and in the practice of the law. Many others have done the same. We know that he served his local community in the legislature and in Congress. All this was not unusual. We know that he had a great intellect and a great heart, great patience and great forbearance. He had a great soul. He was a revelation. He showed to men their better selves. He had the power to blend together discordant elements. He reconciled differences. He was a universal friend. But all this fails to describe him for he was infinitely more.

Progress of Negro Race
In the less than seventy years that the negro race in America have been in the enjoyment of freedom, they have made marvelous progress. That progress is shown, not only in the property which they have acquired, not only in the talent which they have exhibited in the arts, not only in the professions of the law or medicine, of the ministry, of teaching, nor yet in the administration of business affairs, all of which have been very great, but most of all in the honest, industrious way in which the great body of their people have performed the plain everyday duties of life. Their greatest contribution lies in the fact that they have helped to do the work of the nation.

When the call came in time of war, they were ready and desirous to respond. More than two and one quarter millions of them were registered under the selective draft. They were more anxious to enlist, than they were to evade any service for their country. In spite of every deception or temptation to which public enemies artfully subjected them, they exhibited a loyalty and devotion to the cause of America which was unsurpassed. Nearly 400,000 of them went into military service. The 92nd Division was composed exclusively of negro troops. They had 639 commissioned officers, especially trained at Fort Des Moines. They furnished 100 Medical Reserve officers, while the total of their commissioned officers reached about 1200 in number.

They were brave and courageous in the face of the enemy. Their total casualties were approximately 103 officers and 1543 enlisted men, of whom six officers and 203 enlisted men were killed in action.

Returning home, in common with their comrades, they resumed their peace-time occupations. Like other Americans, they have as a result of their experience a broader outlook, a firmer patriotism, and like the other peoples of the earth, they are in the enjoyment of a great freedom.

War Brings New Duties

There came also to all Americans, as a result of the war, new duties and new obligations. The first and foremost of these, the one to which the people thru their Government responded with the greatest readiness and generosity was the necessity of caring for those who had been injured in the service and for their dependents. There was at once organized the Reconstruction and Restoration Service, under different departments, finally all consolidated in the Veterans' Bureau, to do what was necessary to restore health, provide education, and administer compensation.

Very large sums have already been appropriated for these purposes, for which the expenditures are well over $1,000,000 each day. For allowances to families expenditures have been about $300,000,000. For compensation to those who suffered injuries $675,000,000. For Medical and Hospital Services $262,000,000. Hospital care is now granted to all who request it, at least for a period of observation. For Education and Vocational training about $590,000,000. For insurances $90,000,000. For the construction and repair of hospitals about $45,000,000. Other items make a grand total of about $2,500,000,000, all of which has gone directly for these great relief purposes with the exception of about four per cent, which has been the cost of administration.

There are now about 25,000 men in hospitals. During the past year and one half, government hospital beds have been increased by 9,686, so that they total at the present time 24,759. Money has been provided, and work is in progress, to equip 7,619 additional beds.

Work is Enormous

More than 232,000 compensation claims and more than 143,000 War Risk Term Insurance Claims are paid each month. There are nearly 550,000 insurance policies in force, representing more than $3,000,000,000 insurance. More than 165,000 men have entered Vocational Training, of which more than 95,000 are still receiving that instruction. The generosity of the American people reaches directly more than a million service men and their dependents.

It is not possible to administer a great service of this kind without mistakes and delays. The Government has had up for consideration more than 1,000, 000 service cases of one kind or another. It is the policy to err on the side of the service men. There has been a great expenditure of money and every possible attempt adequately to provide for every service man and his dependents who are entitled to the bounty of a generous and grateful people. The dedication of this hospital, constructed new thruout, at an expenditure of nearly $2,000,000, providing accommodations for 600 cases, exclusively for negro service men, shows the appreciation in which they are held by the Government. Here on a beautiful tract of 464 acres there are located 227 permanent buildings, with every facility for the care and cure of those who are afflicted. The Government has nothing better anywhere.

Together we are working out, in theory and in practice, that hope of Washington and Lincoln. It is a long, slow, toilsome, and laborious process, accompanied oftentimes with disappointments and delays, but in the progress which has been made there is every reason for encouragement and satisfaction.

MOTHER-IN-LAW TEST SUCCESSFULLY PASSED BY BRIDE

Cerman Bride Makes Good with Husband's Mother

NEW YORK, Feb. 12.—At least one of the 38 German brides who returned from the Rhine with the American doughboys today passed the mother-in-law test. She was Mrs. William Wheeler, late of Coblenz, soon of Everett, Mass. Her mark in the examination was 100 percent.

Early this morning a sturdy, erect figure in khaki entered the lobby of the Hotel Rutledge, where the brides are quartered.

It was "Bill" buck private. Clinging to his arm was a bent little woman with white hair and keen appraising eyes. It was Bill's mother, Mrs. Annie Wheeler of Everett.

"Tell Mrs. Wheeler to come down, please," the soldier said to the elevator operator. "Soon the elevator door opened and a plump, smiling, fair haired girl of 24 stepped out. A little girl of two was clinging to her hand. The bride ran at once to the waiting two and threw two short arms around the grayed woman.

"Mamma," she said excitedly. And then an old fashioned kiss surrounded. The little woman did not stop to survey the other. The embrace was without reservation. A moment later the elderly woman was on her knees with her hands outstretched to a grandchild named after her—a grand child she had never seen before.

Little Annie drew back, a mother bent over her. "It's grandma," she said with a German accent. "Annie still hesitated.

"Ess ist deine grosnmutter," the mother said.

The child held up her face for a kiss. A few minutes later she uttered her first phrase in the English tongue—a phrase in which she had been carefully coached—"hello, grandma."

Soon the family was seated in the lounge, chatting as freely as the limitation of strange tongue would permit.

All but one of the brides seemed happy in the land of their husbands. One had a violent attack of homesickness and threatened to take the next ship back—but recanted.

The others peered curiously from the windows of the hotel or sat around in groups talking to German. Some of the brave ventured forth to have a look at the subway and some of the other things of which they've heard. But most of them just waited for their husbands, who by tomorrow will be discharged from the army.

FRANK O. LOWDEN PAYS TRIBUTE TO ABRAHAM LINCOLN

Says World War Taught World What Lincoln Meant to It

(By The Associated Press) SPRINGFIELD, Feb. 12.—When the great war came with humanity threatened on every front, then it was the world learned how much Abraham Lincoln meant to it, that his words gave inspiration to all the forces fighting the battles of civilization, Frank O. Lowden, former governor of Illinois, said in a tribute today on the occasion of the 114th celebration of the Emancipator's birthday.

"And the peace has come, Lincoln's voice is just as potent now as it was during the fearful time of wars," Mr. Lowden said. "Lincoln served mankind because he loved mankind, but how well he wrought I doubt if even he himself could fully understand. The nation which he served grew so powerful in a little more than fifty years that it was able, in the supreme crisis of civilization, to turn the tide of the great world conflict."

"Lincoln was democracy's finest product. In life he was its noblest champion. In death he became its saint. His tomb is now its shrine. The cause for which he lived and died now has become the cause of all the world."

"Lincoln was nominated for president over the protests of the extremists. He was elected. But he months that intervened between his election and his inauguration were the hardest of his life. Sad, depressed, and impatient, he quietly waited at Springfield, while all the forces opposed to his most cherished principle, the preservation of the Union, were mustering both South and North. He hated slavery but he loved the constitution."

"It was impossible for Lincoln as president to force the emancipation of the slaves because the constitution protected slavery. In his first inaugural address he said: 'I have no purpose directly or indirectly to interfere with the institution of slavery in the States where it exists. I believe I have no lawful right to do so and I have no inclination to do so.'

"When the emancipation proclamation was resolved upon, Lincoln solemnly made this confession to his cabinet: 'When the rebel army was at Frederick, I determined, as soon as it should be driven out of Maryland, to issue a proclamation of emancipation, such as I thought most likely to be useful. I said nothing to any one; but I made the promise to myself and—to my Maker. The rebel army is now driven out, and I am going to fulfill that promise.'

Comments Them to Lincoln "And so today when there are many who believe that constitutional mandates can be easily laid aside and picked up again when the need is past, to all who believe that they are wiser than the men who framed that constitution and the form of government under which we live, I commend with all my heart the words and the deeds of Abraham Lincoln."

"With reference to the age-old question of labor and capital, Lincoln declared: 'Labor is prior to and independent of capital. Capital is only the fruit of labor and could never have existed if labor had not first existed. Labor is the superior of capital, and deserves much the highest consideration.'

"This is but another way of saying that society should chiefly concern itself with the lot in life of the average man. Lincoln emphasized the right to liberty. Any form of government is but a means to an end and that end is the happiness of the individual. But the happiness and well-being of the average man and woman must be steadily advanced if our institutions are to endure. A steadily reducing amount of human labor is all the time required to produce the necessities of life. If we shall abandon the ancient landmarks and substitute for private initiative and private industry a communistic state, the progress of mankind will be arrested and retrogression will set in. Again Lincoln speaks to us. It is a message for today: 'The legitimate object of government is to do for a community of people whatever they need to have done but cannot do at all or cannot so well do for themselves in their separate and individual capacities. In all that the people can individually do as well for themselves, government ought not to interfere.'

"He also warns us: 'Let not him who is houseless pull down the house of another, but let him labor diligently and build one for himself, thus for example assuring that his own shall be safe from violence when built.'

SEN. SEARCY MAKES C. P. & S. L. SUGGESTION

In a statement published in the State Journal Monday Senator Earl B. Searcy advocates a hard and oiled road system to take care of the business in cities along the line of the C. P. & S. L. If that railroad should be abandoned Mr. Searcy feels that the problem is one in which the whole state has an interest, and expresses the thought that the state could readily help out such a situation by the construction of good roads. Senator Searcy says that he has not made a study of the C. P. & S. L. situation, and does not know all of the facts, but merely presents the idea of the improved roadway system in event that the railroad is permitted to go out of business.

It is Senator Searcy's idea that a hard road with motor bus equipment for passengers and trucks for the handling of freight in some localities would go a long way toward making up the loss of the road.

A WISH

We wish that every person who contemplates buying a piano in 1923, whether they buy from my firm immediately, eventually, or not at all, would accord me the opportunity and the pleasure of talking to them

About Pianos

We wish this because we have been in the piano business here for more than forty years and have studied carefully the special requirements in pianos to meet this peculiar climate. (A piano may be the finest made, but it will not work equally well in all climates—did you know that?) We believe the experience we have gained will be of real value to you in buying an instrument, and we would pass it on to you because naturally we are fundamentally interested in good music.

SPLENDID PROGRAM AT BAPTIST CHURCH

Annual Father and Son Banquet Draws Large Crowd of Men and Boys — Secretary Spence, J. H. Dial and E. E. Crabtree are Principal Speakers—Fine Banquet Served.

More than eighty men and boys attended the annual Fathers and Sons banquet at the First Baptist church last evening. The ladies of the church served an excellent chicken supper, which was followed by a fine program. G. W. Gard presided as toastmaster, and the Sunday school orchestra furnished instrumental music during the supper hour. The singing of some original songs to popular tunes was led by Roy Blauvelt.

The program consisted of the speeches of various chairmen of a Rolls Royce car, who drove it from point to point in the experiences of father and son. The trip from "Dadville to Boyhood," was taken by Alex. Rabjohns. Jokes on dad were told by Estell Parks, Leroy Groves and Roy Blauvelt. "The Sport I Like Best," was described by Ralph Corbridge, and Gale Jackson.

"From Workville to Campville," was the subject assigned to Secretary Spence of the student Y. M. C. A. of Illinois, who happened to be in the city visiting the organization at Illinois college. Mr. Spence whose speech was unexpected on the program, was fully equal to the occasion. He emphasized the importance of camping in the lives of the boys saying that it was a good thing to get away from the world of study and business, so that one could get a perspective and see facts as they are. The average boy and man need to get a perspective of distance, of time, of action, to study the consequences of acts, to learn about the state, the nation and the world.

Mr. Spence described the prospective camp for boys and young men to be opened next summer near Decatur, and to be known as Camp Seymour. It is the gift of the state to the Y. M. C. A., coming from a wealthy couple, whose son was killed in a baseball game between two high schools. The lad was hit by a pitched ball. Impressed by their son's Christian life and his tragic death, the parents resolved to do some great thing for the boys of Illinois. The camp to be opened next summer is the result of that resolve.

Draws Lesson From Tree.
In closing his speech, the secretary told of a tree in the Rocky Mountains which stood one thousand years. An old philosopher named Enos Mills discovered the tree, after it had been cut down by lumbermen. It was ruined in the fall and could not be used for lumber. Mills had the tree sawed up, several places. He counted a thousand year rings in the tree, and decided that the secret of its long life lay in the fact that each ring was perfect, and the entire tree grew around a perfect and solid heart. The speaker then applied this in the making of a symmetrical life.

J. H. Dial was the next speaker having as his subject, "My First Trip to Sparksville." He told the story in a way that caused much amusement, at the same time drawing a graphic picture of life as it was lived in southern Illinois during his boyhood and youth, and drawing from his own experience several useful lessons for the fathers present.

One of the most interesting features of the program was the speech of W. T. Spires, who is one of the few Morgan county citizens living who was present at the funeral of Abraham Lincoln. Mr. Spires and his brother went to Springfield when Lincoln's body lay in state in the old state house, and they were in the long line of citizens who viewed the body. Mr. Spires described the beautifully decorated coach in which the remains of the president were brought to Springfield from Washington.

Mayor E. E. Crabtree, the last speaker in the program, had as his subject, "From the Raw Material to the Finished Product." He used the example of the raw materials that go into the auto factories at Detroit, Mich., the ore from the mines of the north, the lumber from the pine forests, and other products of the natural resources of the country, which are finally turned out as finished cars. In the same way men are made from the boys of the present day. In closing his speech, Mr. Crabtree told the story of Lincoln's death, as it was told by Congressman Henry Rathbone, whose father was in the theater box with Lincoln at the time of the tragedy.

The audience sang the following parodies on popular songs, a performance which, with the many humorous stories of the speakers, lent life and pep to the evening's entertainment.

There are feeds that make me happy;
There are feeds that make me yell;
There are feeds that bring the glistening tear drops,
There are feeds that make my stomach swell;
But the feeds that always bring the mirth-day,
And the feed that always makes me glad,
Is the feed that serve on Lincoln's birthday.
At the banquet I have with dad.

Representative Samuel E. Moore, who was active in arranging for the meeting today, will arrange for another meeting as soon as Gov. Small is able to meet the various delegations expected to attend.

TO BOOST BAKESHOP INDUSTRY OF CITY

United Bakers Meet With Industrial Commission. Expect to Increase Number of Employees and Urge Patronage of Home Bakery Goods.

The United Bakers of Jacksonville, thru their representatives, Walter Smith, Grant Ferguson and R. E. Koepping, held a conference Monday evening with the industrial committee of the Chamber of Commerce. The bakers of this city have only recently organized to boost the baking industry at home. They have requested the assistance of the committee in putting the baking industry of the city on a more firm footing.

Fifty persons are now employed in the bake shops of Jacksonville, and at least one hundred and fifty persons are supported by this industry. The fifty employees earn from $30 to $45 a week each. With the proper encouragement of the industry here, the number of employees can be increased to seventy-five by spring, and the output of the shops can be greatly increased also.

The industrial committee has decided to lend its aid to the baking industry. Representatives of the committee and the bakers will call on all local grocers, to urge them to boost the sale of Jacksonville bakery goods. It was brought out in the meeting that bread made here tests 95 per cent, which is as high as any bread on the market. The committee also extended to the United Bakers the use of the Chamber of Commerce rooms for their weekly meetings. T. A. Chapin, as chairman of the industrial committee, presided at the meeting last night.

The hall was decorated for the occasion, the junior colors yellow and white appearing on one side, while the red and white of the sophomore class adorned the other side. A great deal of enthusiasm was in evidence throughout the contest, class yells being heard at frequent intervals. The freshmen class supported the juniors in the "pep" program, while the seniors supported the sophomores.

LINCOLN PROGRAM AT DURBIN CHURCH

Interesting Facts Presented About Life and Work of Great Emancipator—Dr. Rule Made Address.

As a Lincoln Day Program at Durbin church, Sunday, the work of the Board of Education for Negroes, of the Methodist Episcopal church was presented with appropriate music, addresses and readings as follows:

"What the Emancipation of a Race Meant," by Russell Rawlings.
"The Process of Self-Discovery" by Miss Ruth Eby.
"How the Negro Achieved," by Burton Scott, Kenneth Rawlings and Miss Helen Scott.

Dr. Rule gave a brief talk as the character of Lincoln the Emancipator, and how he had watched the Negro from the time he had seen them sold on the auction block until the present and rejoiced in the progress of the race since the day of their emancipation. He told of the work of reconstruction in the South after Civil War, and of the development of the method of the Negro from the organization of "The Freedman's Aid Society" in 1866, until the name was changed to "The Board of Education for Negroes" at The General Conference of 1920, the reason for the change being, that only freemen are now being educated.

Among the interesting facts brought out in the program were that the Negro had made moral progress which has expressed itself concretely in the economic, educational and religious improvement of the race, particularly in the improvement in home life. Starting with no well defined family life they have established in a half century over two million homes. Also that they are capable of entering into business and professions of different kinds so as to meet the demands of Christian civilization. For example, there are over 60,000 in the professions, that is, teachers, preachers, lawyers, doctors, dentists, editors, etc., and there are 2,892,350 engaged in agricultural pursuits; 61,129 in extraction of minerals; 631,421 in manufacturing; 225,696 in transportation; 119,491 in trades; 22,382 in public service; 1,122,182 in domestic service; and 19,336 in clerical occupations.

GRIGGSVILLE DRIVER WILL TRAIN HERE

W. J. Creasey Will Bring String of Horses to local Fair Grounds for Spring Work.

The Morgan County Fair association received a letter yesterday from W. J. Creasey of Griggsville stating that he will move his string of race horses to the Jacksonville fair grounds within the next few weeks if the weather conditions permit. Mr. Creasey intends, as do other horse trainers, to make Jacksonville his training headquarters for the coming fair season and he desires to bring his horses here in the near future in order to begin the spring training.

These race horse trainers will make Jacksonville their headquarters and will follow the Jacksonville-Southwestern circuit of fairs recently formed. They will take their strings from Jacksonville to Jerseyville, from there to the Scott county fair at Winchester; from Winchester to the state fair; from Springfield to Carlinville for the Macoupin county fair; from Carlinville to Carrollton for the Greene county fair.

At the meeting which the fair directors held the latter part of the week, Scott Green was appointed the Morgan county representative for the board of directors of this new fair circuit. As Mr. Green is the superintendent of speed for the local fair he is in close touch with the matters which will come up for consideration before the circuit. The Morgan County fair directors will meet next Saturday to make final decisions on some of the policies for the fair season and to decide on some of the attractions to be secured for the 1923 fair.

WORK PROGRESSING ON DOLLAR DAY PLANS

Over Sixty Merchants so Far Pledged to Take Part—Many Good Bargains Will be Offered

Work is progressing rapidly on the big Dollar Day which is to be staged in Jacksonville on March 6. Already over sixty firms have signified their willingness to take part in this movement and are now preparing a list of special attractions to offer to the buying public on that day.

Chairman Lloyd S. Reid of this committee, stated yesterday that it is anticipated that March 6 will be the biggest Dollar Day sale ever held in Jacksonville as these sixty merchants have voluntarily joined in the movement without being solicited. The list of subscribers will be closed on Thursday, February 15, and the names of those taking part in the sale will then be entered on all the advertising matter.

Progress is also being made in the Spring Opening and Window Display project to be staged during the week of the Automobile Show. This is always an important event of the spring season and committees are working on the details for an attractive window display of spring merchandise.

SERVICE STAR LEGION MEETS

The regular meeting of the Service Star Legion on the second Thursday of the month, was held with Mrs. R. W. Dodsworth. Much to the regret of everyone the president Mrs. Frances Brown was detained by illness in Springfield, at the home of her daughter. There was a large attendance.

Mrs. William Bancroft, the vice president presided. Mrs. Adams was called upon to read an article in the Service Star Legion magazine by the newly elected national president, Mrs. Julia B. Mayer. A woman as beautiful in person as she is strong mentally and wise in all that relate to a cultured public woman.

Among other interesting accounts was the Woman's Joint Congressional committee. A committee of fifteen different organizations of women in the United States of which the local Service Star Legion is one; the parent-teacher association with its 350,000 members, the working women, 600,000; the D. A. R. with its 250,000; the Woman's Christian Temperance Union, with its 500,000 members and the eleven other associations, making millions of American women legally and officially organized to interest the people in the Congressional affairs of the country.

Men must, and do work in our national halls of congress for laws and advantages to be given them while women in their line of work can devote themselves to impersonal details, to education, to health, to sanitary laws for the protection and advancement of our people in every industry and every position in life.

Each of these organizations has her own correspondent in Washington, D. C., to watch the progress of the varied interests and report.

This was followed by the report of the national chairman on education, Mrs. W. W. Davis, an article worthy of the pen of a statesman. Under ten items she referred to some of our federal laws and other laws relating to patriotic usages desirable to have recognized.

For instance, no anthem, hymn or musical air has been recognized by any federal law as the national anthem, hymn or air, but army and navy regulations provide "that the musical composition known as the 'Star Spangled Banner' shall be designated as the national air of the United States of America. These regulations are binding only on the personnel of the military and naval service.

Also was read the report of the national chairman of insignia and banners, Mrs. Clara M. Clawson. Mrs. Clawson had designed the flag adopted by the Gold Star Mothers, and also adopted and patented by the national Service Star Legion, only substituting a blue star on the white field instead of the mother's gold star.

A social hour followed with dainty refreshments served by the hostess. The legion then adjourned to meet March 8 at Plymouth Hall with Mrs. Bancroft, Mrs. Keefe and Mrs. Smith as hostesses.

TO EXPLAIN PLAN OF JOINT MEMBERSHIP

C. F. Metzger of the Organization Department of the Illinois Agricultural Association to Be Here.

G. E. Metzger, head of the organization department of the Illinois Agricultural association will be in Jacksonville on February 20 to meet the executive committee of the Morgan County Farm Bureau. Mr. Metzger will come to explain the plan of putting on a joint membership campaign for the farm bureau.

The methods of membership campaigns for the organization will be different than those pursued three years ago. Memberships will be secured jointly for the county organization and the state association. Meetings will be held in the different communities of the county and the work of the national, state and county farm bureau organizations will be explained. The membership drive will be conducted in one day and will be handled by the local members of the farm bureau. During its three years of existence in Morgan county, the farm bureau has become an efficient and helpful organization and the membership will probably be much increased by the coming campaign.

CROP COMMITTEE HELD MEETING

C. A. Rowe, chairman of the crop committee of the farm bureau held a very successful meeting of his committee Saturday afternoon at the farm bureau offices. The members present were: W. W. Henderson, Yuba Y. Funk, Charles A. Ogle, F. C. Trotter, J. M. Wynn, John Laurie, William G. Richardson, Roy Burrus, C. E. Patterson and Harrison Robinson.

Each member of this committee was asked to express himself as to what project he would be willing to put on as a demonstration in his community. This committee consists of one man from each township and these different township representatives will put on some crop demonstration as suggested in the county program of work for the farm bureau.

CURIOUS RADIO PHENOMENON

A group of radio experts made a very important discovery which means a great deal to every radio fan since it will allow him to receive the broadcasted programs more clearly and over greater distances. The discovery has to do with the acoustic properties of the radio headset. If two violins or other musical instruments are playing in perfect union, the resulting sound will be clearer and much louder than would be possible if the two instruments were a bit "out of step"—out of tune—or out of "resonance" as the physicists say.

It is also possible to gain an understanding of this phenomenon by considering a note in the middle register of a piano. The note is made by a single key striking three wires of exactly the same length and tension. The result is a strong, clear note since the sound waves emitted by each wire are "in step" or in tune with each other and therefore they do not conflict. If they did conflict in tone the resulting musical note would be mushy and untrue at all times. Neither would it travel as far as the single, true tone-wave. The application of this to telephone headsets has made it possible to greatly increase their sensitivity and the clearness of the music or speech they reproduce. In a radio headset each receiver should be carefully matched in tone so that they will both emit vibrations of the same nature. The receivers must be "sound-mates" if the message is to be clearly understood. This is especially important for distant reception. Matched tone headsets have been found to greatly increase the range of radio receiving sets as they produce exactly the same tone at each ear. The human ear is more sensitive to vibrations of sympathetic nature.

BAPTIST SCHOOL OF MISSIONS CLOSING

With the singing of "Blest Be the Tie That Binds," by the nations of the world in the missionary play, "Wait a Minute," the Baptist School of Missions closed its 1923 session on Sunday night. The attendance of the school exceeded that of last year by 174. Six Sunday night sessions were held the study hour being at 6:30 and the lecture period one hour later. Three classes, adults, seniors and intermediates completed three mission books entitled "Building With India," "India on the March," and "The Wonderland of India," taught by three teachers, Mrs. C. O. Swift, Mrs. A. B. Williamson and Prof. George Poage. During the lecture period, two stereopticon lectures were given on "The Ship of Fellowship" and "Mexico Breaking the Fetters." A motion picture on education, "Men of Tomorrow," met with popular approval. Dr. J. P. Langton delivered an instructive address on "Christian Education in Mohammedan Countries." An Americanization play, "Help Wanted for Miss Liberty," by the Intermediates and a missionary pageant "Wait a Minute," by the Seniors, completed the program.

The study class attendance reached a total of 599, while the attendance at the lecture period reached a total of 1,040 making a grand total on all departments of 1,549.

Meat which you buy does not originate in the packing houses.

Behind the packing houses and the stock yards are the millions of acres of land devoted to the raising of live stock and food for this live stock.

How live stock reaches the market; how it is purchased; how it is handled in its transformation into meat; and how this highly perishable product gets into the hands of retailers in every city and village, make an interesting story.

The handling of by-products also furnishes some interesting facts.

SIKI REINSTATED BY BOXING COMMISSION

PARIS, Feb. 12.—The French boxing federation on the occasion of its twentieth anniversary today decided in favor of amnesty for all recent offenders.

The decision as regard Battling Siki annuls his suspension and allows him to apply for a new boxing license, which will be granted but does not restore to him his championship titles.

The council of the federation met this evening and voted thanks to those who during the past twenty years had aided in insuring its moral authority and prosperity. The council's legal adviser then stated that he had received a communication from Siki's lawyer that Siki had declared himself ready to abandon suit against the federation. The council established Siki's recognition of its powers and announced abandonment of its suit against Deputy Diagne, who had stood as one of Siki's strongest supporters.

General Amnesty was then voted. Siki's case being the only one that interested the public. The council's decision, which has been generally expected, is considered by the evening papers as belated recognition that public opinion was not with the federation and hence it was necessary for the federation to find some way out of the difficulty.

CHANGES CHURCH SERVICES FOR BASKETBALL.

Oak Harbor, Ohio, Feb. 12.—Because of the majority of the young people are basketball fans and will not miss a game to attend church services, Rev. D. F. Brandt, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran church here, has departed from an aged custom and will hold special Lenten services on Sunday evenings instead of Friday evenings.

Rev. Brandt also has changed the date for a meeting of the Luther league from Wednesday evening to Tuesday evening.

WANT TO EXPLOIT MILITARY COAL FIELDS FOR CIVIL USE

Tokio.—The authorities in the Saghalien administration contemplate the establishment of a semi-official mining company. The bill relative to the proposed organization is now under investigation by the Legislative bureau and will be introduced in the forthcoming session of the Diet.

According to the authorities the company will be established with a gross capital of sixty million yen, half of which will be set apart as flowing capital and raised through general public subscription.

The company will be placed under the direct control of the chief of the Saghalien administration. The new concern has in view the exploitation of the coal fields for civil purposes. These have long been sealed by the military authorities for exclusive military uses against the time of emergencies. The bill when introduced in the Diet is expected to give rise to an animated debate.

A PEACH OF A DANCE RECORD

Dumbell

played by Bennie Krueger's Orchestra

Hear it. Two pianos, saxophones, sparkling brasses—worth walking a mile to hear. "The Thief," another big hit, on the other side. And like all Brunswick Records, a true reproduction, not a note lost or slurred.

Guard Against "Flu" With Musterole

Influenza, Grippe and Pneumonia usually start with a cold. The moment you get those warning aches, get busy with good old Musterole.

Musterole is a counter-irritant that relieves congestion (which is what a cold really is) and stimulates circulation. It has all the good qualities of the old-fashioned mustard plaster without the blister.

Just rub it on with your finger-tips. First you will feel a warm tingle as the healing ointment penetrates the pores, then a soothing, cooling sensation and quick relief.

Have Musterole handy for emergency use. It may prevent serious illness. 35c and 65c, in jars and tubes.

Better than a mustard plaster

MRS. E. J. PHILLIPS OBSERVES BIRTHDAY

Well Known Resident Given Family Dinner Sunday and Was Guest of Honor at Masquerade Monday.

Sunday marked the 87th anniversary of the birth of Mrs. Elizabeth J. Phillips who has been a resident of Jacksonville for half a century. In honor of the event Mrs. Phillips was given a birthday dinner at the home of her daughter, Mrs. George Sigfried, with whom she now makes her home.

Mrs. Phillips was born in England and was united in marriage there, coming to the United States and directly to Jacksonville in 1873. She was the mother of fourteen children, four of whom are living and were present Sunday. They are Mrs. George Sigfried, Harry Phillips, Albert E. Phillips and John R. Phillips and their children Mr. and Mrs. Clarence P. Sigfried also were present.

On Monday afternoon the Wives of the Patriarchs gave a masquerade party in honor of Mrs. Phillips at the Sigfried home. Nearly all of the company came enmasque and there were some unique costumes. Those who did not masquerade were called upon to furnish an impromptu program during the afternoon.

Seven guests were present including Mrs. R. Dodsworth, Mrs. Martha Hoover, Mrs. Elizabeth Arnold, Mrs. James Strawn, Mrs. H. C. Dancy, Mrs. Clarence Sigfried and Mrs. William Harney.

Despite her advanced age Mrs. Phillips entered heartily into the spirit of both events and greatly enjoyed herself. Last night she attended a picture show in company with Mr. and Mrs. George Sigfried and seemed not in the least fatigued.

She was the recipient of many personal congratulations and also received a large number of postcards from friends and many beautiful gifts. One especially appreciated was a hand made collar sent by Mrs. William Preston, formerly of this city, who is now at the Odd Fellows and Rebekahs old people's home in Mattoon.

SAVED FROM AN OPERATION

Now Recommends Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Washington, D.C.—"Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound saved me from an operation which a physician said I would have to have for a very bad case of female trouble. My system was all run down for two years. After my little girl was born. Then I read of your wonderful medicine and decided to try it. I could hardly drag one foot after the other, and after taking six bottles of the Vegetable Compound I felt like a new woman. I now do all my housework, also washing and ironing, and do not know what real trouble is. My health is fine, and I weigh 110 pounds. When I started taking it I weighed 97 pounds. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to any one who is suffering from female trouble or is run down. You may use this testimonial for I am only too glad to let suffering women know what the Vegetable Compound did for me."—Mrs. J. A. Hawley, 1229 Penna. Ave. S.E., Washington, D.C.

Such letters from women in every section of this country prove beyond question the merit of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

FROM MANUSCRIPTS OF FRANK J. HEINL

In compiling this story of a century ago errors may have crept in and important facts may have been omitted. Suggestions and corrections will be acceptable.

In the War of 1812

Seymour and Elisha, like their forefathers, were of a military turn and their home in New York was close to the Niagara frontier which saw many battles during the second war with England. Seymour served in the war as lieutenant, captain, lieutenant-colonel, major and colonel. Elisha served as lieutenant and captain.

The United States pension records show that Seymour was in the service at Fort Erie and Elisha at the battle of Black Rock. Elisha was pensioned for a time, but no bounty was allotted him. Seymour never was a pensioner but was allotted bounty land.

New York to Illinois

The Kelloggs wagoned from their New York home to Pittsburg, where they disposed of their teams and wagons, procured a flat boat and embarked on the Ohio river for the west. While descending the river, the party fell in with Ambrose Collins and family from Ontario county, New York, who were likewise flatboating down the Ohio for the Illinois country. Seymour Kellogg and Ambrose Collins had been acquaintances back home and the three families continued their journey together.

When the three families disembarked at Shawneetown, the Kelloggs bought four yoke of oxen and two wagons. The party then wagoned to Carmi, Ill., where it remained until the next spring. While at Carmi, a son, was born to Seymour and Nancy Kellogg. Early in the autumn of 1819 the three families wagoned westward to Edwardsville, Ill. Here they learned of the treaty which had recently been concluded with the Kickapoo Indians, wherein they ceded their claims to lands in Central Illinois and agreed to vacate the region. At Edwardsville, Ambrose Collins was taken sick and he and his family were compelled to remain there until the spring of 1820.

Arrive in Morgan County.

The Kelloggs and their families and Charles Collins, son of Ambrose, with their oxen, wagons, some cattle and provisions started northward. We do not know just what route they took, but they probably followed the route of the Edwards expedition of 1812, which took them along the west of Cahokia creek, thence south of the site of the present Carlinville and then across Lick creek in the present Sangamon county to the vicinity of the present Curran. From this point they proceeded westward guided by their compasses and indistinct trails left by Indians and bee-hunters and perhaps by the Island Grove which was for many years a landmark and the forests along the upper Mauiasterre and came to the timbered lands along the North Fork of the Mauiasterre sometime in the autumn of 1819.

Scouting the Kickapoo Lands.

During the year preceding the locating of the Kelloggs in Morgan county, a number of men from the vicinities of Cahokia, Wood River and Edwardsville, in anticipation of the extinguishment of the Kickapoo titles, came into central Illinois on exploring expeditions. Among them was Alexander Beal, who settled later near Exeter, who said that when he first visited this section there was not a home or other mark of civilization north of Apple creek, but that there were plenty of Indians camped on the Mauiasterre and Sandy creeks and with them a few Creole French traders, one of whom had a shanty on the banks of the Illinois river, near the place where later was operated Phillip's ferry.

There is a tradition over in Pike county that a Canadian Frenchman, J. B. Thibault, called Thiboo, occupied a cabin just south of Valley City from 1817 to 1819.

The reports brought to Edwardsville, then the land office for this region, and also the country seat, by the returned explorers induced many homeseekers to prepare to locate on the Kickapoo lands as soon as the claimants surrendered their rights. When the treaty with the Kickapoos was concluded in July 1819 the lands were open to settlement and many settlers rushed into them.

Settlements Central Illinois 1819. Locations were soon made on the creeks along the route followed by the Kelloggs near the present Carlinville, on Sugar creek near the present Auburn, on Lick creek near the present Chatham and the Kellys, North Carolinians, located on Spring Creek within the limits of the present Springfield, and John Roberts, a Tennesseean, located at the Island Grove. When the Kelloggs came to the Mauiasterre either John Roberts had not located at the Island Grove or the Kelloggs did not know of his location for they supposed their nearest neighbors were on Spring, Lick and Sugar creeks. The Kelloggs and Charles Collins in 1819 were the only white residents in all the region between the headwaters of the Sangamon in the part of the present Sangamon county on the east and the Illinois river on the west, Macoupin creek in the south and the Sangamon on the north, except perhaps a lone settler near the present Chandlerville.

INCOME TAX FACTS

No. 14.

Traveling expenses, including the entire amount expended for meals and lodging while away from home, are deductible items when the trip is on business. On a journey for other than business purposes, railroad fares are personal expenses and the cost of meals and lodging are living expenses. Therefore, they are not deductible.

If a salesman is not reimbursed by his employer for his traveling expenses, or if employed on a commission basis with no expenses allowance his entire traveling expenses may be deducted from gross income. If he receives a salary and is repaid his traveling expenses, he should include in his return of gross income the amount of repayment and may deduct such expenses.

A salesman receiving a salary and an allowance for meals and lodging should include the allowance in gross income, from which may be deducted the cost of meals and lodging.

Only such traveling expenses as are "reasonable and necessary in the conduct of the business" may be deducted. Examples are payments for the use of a sample room, or the hire of vehicles in visiting customers.

A taxpayer claiming such deductions must attach to his income tax return a statement showing the nature of the business in which engaged, number of days away from home on account of business, and the total amount of expenses incident to travel.

Suburbanites who commute daily from their homes to their places of business are not permitted to deduct the cost of transportation, it being a personal expense.

Work Shoes, $1.98; dress shoes $4.85. Hopper's.

BIG SALE OF SEATS

"THE CIRCLE"

The announcement of the advance sale for "The Circle" with an all star cast that will be the attraction at the Grand Theater, Feb. 15, has caused a great deal of interest. There is a large demand for seats from out of town patrons and those desiring to witness the performance will do well to send in their orders at once by mail.

The Selwyns are sending on tour an all star company any one of whom would mean a successful engagement, and when one stops to consider that five of the most prominent stars in America will be seen here in a play that ran for one year in London, one year in Paris and one year in New York there is little wonder that the demand for reservation is so large. Included in the cast is Mr. Wilton Lackaye, Mr. Henry E. Dixey, Miss Amelia Bingham, Charlotte Walker and Norman Hackett. The piece is mounted in the elaborate manner characteristic of a Selwyn production.

On the Job

A man offered a doctor $50 to cure him of the habit of cutting at a tree with his buggy whip as he drove to town.

The doctor cut down the tree and collected the fee.

Simple, wasn't it?

You pass our door maybe two or three times a day. We can save you some money on your suits and overcoats, but you have to stop and come in.

We're right on the way to and from the movies. We have the goods, the knowledge and the ability to serve you well, and our prices will save you money because of our lower overhead expenses.
